After breakfast, the activities started at the mayor's hall with energizers and team-building activities that set a positive tone for the project, fostering a sense of unity among participants. Also, these activities created a collaborative atmosphere, essential for effective project implementation. After that, we presented their ideas and were asked questions from the audience.

After lunch, we cleaned the local beach and around the city. We ended up having 100 liters of trash. We closed the night with a beach night where we played games and discussed the cleanup.

After dinner, we had a Romanian cultural night. Cultural nights doubled as innovation showcases, with participants presenting digital solutions inspired by their cultural heritage. Analyzing the intersection of culture and technology fostered creativity and innovation among participants. Participants exchanged ideas, formed partnerships, and expanded their professional networks, enhancing the overall learning experience.
